Barcelona, 22 March 2016. Cellnex Telecom, Europe's leading independent operator of wireless telecommunications and broadcasting infrastructures, will take part in the "Earth Hour" campaign and switch off the lights at its head office in Barcelona next Saturday 25 March, from 9.30 to 9.30 p.m. as a symbolic act of solidarity with the planet.

The infrastructure operator also joins the initiative taken by Hispasat and Abertis, companies, with which it shares its Madrid-based offices.

The buildings located in Av. Parc Logístic (Barcelona) and 39 Paseo de la Castellana (Madrid) join this global initiative in defence of the environment promoted by the World Wide Fund (WWF).

With this action, Cellnex Telecom is joining the more than 35,000 companies worldwide (over 500 in Spain) that have taken part in previous editions of this campaign, and renewing its commitment to combat climate change by incorporating sustainable solutions into its business models.

About "Earth Hour"

Earth Hour is a WWF campaign that began in 2007 in Sydney, Australia as a symbolic gesture in support of the fight against climate change. Ten years on, it has become the largest environmental mobilisation campaign in history. It is a mass demonstration of the feelings of millions of people who are calling for everyone to commit to addressing climate change, the greatest environmental threat facing us.

About Cellnex Telecom

Cellnex is the main independent European operator of wireless communications infrastructure, with a total portfolio of more than 19,000 sites.

In 2016 Cellnex Telecom obtained revenues of € 707 million (+15%) and EBITDA of € 290 million (+23%). The company is present in Italy, Spain, France, the Netherlands and the UK.

The company is listed on the continuous market of the Spanish stock exchange and is part of the selective IBEX 35 and EuroStoxx 600 indices.

It is also part of the FTSE4Good sustainability index and the United Nations Global Compact, the largest global initiative on sustainability involving more than 9,000 companies. This initiative is defined as a call for companies to align their strategies and operations with universal principles on human rights concerning labour, environment and society.

In 2016 Cellnex Telecom received the Best Newcomer Spain award in the Climate Leadership Awards, organised by the CDP (Carbon Disclosure Project).

CDP is one of the most highly recognised organisations for its work on climate change, which seeks to assess the quality of – and systems for reporting – the information provided by private companies or by the public sector in the sustainability and environment area.
